

May 8th Weekly Newsletter

Good morning. I hope everyone is managing the yucky smoky conditions ok. We will be keeping a close eye on the smoke level over the next bit and will make sure we do what is recommended by Northern Health to ensure students are safe and not exposed to too much smoke.

A new hot lunch menu will go out this week for the remainder of the school year.

It is that time of year where I am finalizing my budget for next year. If you know you are leaving our school community, or if you have a child at home that will be attending Kindergarten next year and you have not registered yet, please let us know at the office. If you have friends that are planning on bringing children to DT they can register at any time. The sooner the better in fact. We are opening a 7th classroom next year!

Blueberries can still be ordered until May 10th. If you have collected orders, please have them plus payment at the school by Wednesday. Orders not paid for will not be placed.

The book fair is coming up starting on May 15th. Mrs. Pohl will be sending home more information this week.

“I am thankful to live, work, play and learn on Treaty 8 territory. I acknowledge these are the traditional and ancestral lands of the Cree and Dene, home of West Moberly First Nations, Saulteau First Nations and a large Metis population.”
